HISTORY

From the early 1960s Jack Brooks and a few volunteers could see the need to enhance salmon runs in the Sooke River and local creeks. With Jack's persistence, the enhancement grew from clearing log jams, salvaging and relocation of fry, to clearing a small site on private property where a few homemade gravel incubation boxes and old bathtubs were used to hatch and catch new fry. In 1981, the Hatchery was officially founded on Rocky Creek, near Demamiel Creek and Young Lake.

Expanding from a few more incubation boxes to stacks of Heath trays, increasing the number of Capilano troughs, and adding large rearing tanks was made possible by the hard work of many volunteers. The Hatchery of today has grown to be the main influence on the ever-increasing returns of Chinook and Coho to the Sooke River and its tributaries. Because the Jack Brooks Hatchery releases up to 700,000 Chinook and up to 200,000 Coho yearly, the proceeds from this Derby will help the volunteers' endeavours to ensure salmon will return to our area for all of us to enjoy.

The Sooke Salmon Enhancement Society's members thank you for your continued support. We hatch 'em so you can catch 'em. Good luck!

In Memoriam

Bill Dobbyn - Bill loved the water, fishing, and tying fishing flies. He was a volunteer at the Hatchery, and his wife Bev carries on there in the family name.

Neil Fawdry - Neil was always a keen supporter of the Hatchery and hard working volunteer with a wicked sense of humour; he always enjoyed the camaraderie of the volunteers and kibitzing with the guys & gals. He was a good friend to all and is missed.

Jack & Jean McLeod - Our Society lost two long-term members this year, Jack and Jean McCleod. Jack served as President in earlier times and was a huge resource for our learning curve. They will both be missed dearly and remembered fondly.

JACK BROOKS HATCHERY

Last year's returning stock for the Sooke River were 925 Chinook and 200 Coho, with 1000 Coho back to DeMamiel Creek. The Sooke Salmon Enhancement Society released 415,000 Chinook into the Sooke River and 170,000 Coho into DeMamiel Creek this year.

Counting this year's production, it will put the Hatchery just over 19,500,000 fry that we have put back into the systems since we started our hatchery site.

The Sooke Salmon Enhancement Society gratefully acknowledges the following for their assistance with the Derby:

- Sooke Lions Club
- Ministry of Transportation and Infrastructure
- Sooke Community Association
- Helgeson's Oyster Farm
